In regard to the railroad question he member talked quite freely and it, was his opinion that council should well consider the recommendation made by the board. "We have labored with the question for weeks," said he, and it is our opinion that the proposiion we have submitted is the only one that can do justice to the city. It was with the interests of the people at heart that we decided upon the plan as recommended, and we feel that any ther course pursued will result disastrously to the city and its residents. Got Arrested Last Night and Told a Sad Story of the Cause of His Anger.

THE MAYOR RELEASED HIM

Enraged beyond all control of himself because of his wife's most disgraceful actions, Jack Brighouse went on a rampage at his home in Shantytown last night between the hours of 11 and 12 o'clock and as a result Officer Mike Mahoney, who was attracted to the scene by the loud clamoring, placed the crippled man under arrest and landed him in the city jail. To Chief Wyman and others, poor,

FORMERLY LIVED IN SALEM

And Was Convicted at Youngstown of the Brutal And Unprovoked Murder of His Wife-Queer Insurance Concern Under Fire.

From a Staff Correspondent. Columbus, July 31 .- Mike Schiller, the Youngstown wife murderer sentenced to die in the electric chair November 10, has been received at the penitentiary. He is known in Columbiana county, having resided in Salem where he was employed for several years in an organ factory. His crime was brutal in the extreme. On account of his inhuman acts his wife was force ed to secure a divorce from him. One day several weeks ago he went to her and demanded money, which she refused to give him. He then whipped out a large ugly knife and disembow eled her. She survived but a short time. The murder was cold-blooded and the evidence at the trial showed i ad been premeditated.

The verdict of murder in the first degree with no recommendation for mercy awakened no expressions of sympathy for the man. When Schiller reached the "bull pen," at the penitentiary, through which prisoners must pass to reach the prison proper, he objected to being put through the us ual searching process, but was soon convinced it would be best to submit to the custom. On the way down he told the officers his only regret was he could not kill his brother-in-law. whom he blamed for his domestic trouble which terminated in the murder of

GREAT LABOR DAY

Potters Will Take a Very Prominent Part in the Big Celebration.

TRADE OUTLOOK BETTER

From a Staff Correspondent

Trenton, N. J., July 31.-Six thousand workingmen parading the principal streets of the city will form a striking celebration of the toilers' greatest holiday Labor day, Monday, September 7. The celebration, in which the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters will take a prominent part, will take the form of a giant pic nic at the Trenton driving park.

The program of attractions wil make the event the greatest in th history of organized labor in Trenton Last year there were 4,000 men in line and this year with more unions organ ized, fully 6,000 men will parade.

The potters' representatives on the general committee are as follows Dust Pressers, Louis Thompson; Saggermakers, Edward Riley; Sanitary Workers, Walter Cartlidge; Porcelain Workers, W. H. Barker; Kunmen, Arthur Newton.

ANCIENT POTTERY HISTORY.

T. C. Brown-Westhead, Moore & Co., Stoke-upon Trent, England, have issued a booklet, which, after giving a historical account of the Staffordshire potteries from 1715, says:

The emperor of Japan has just told Gen. Joseph W. Congdon, president of the American Silk association, that "the United States is Japan's best friend among the nations." The czar of Russia would say the same thing if he were talking on this subject. So. doubtless, would the king of England, the emperor of Germany and the president of France. The United States is a friend of every nation. It intends to remain in this role, especially as there is a chance that complications may come between some of the great nations on account of the Chinese or the Korean issues, or both.

The interstate commerce commission reports that, within the first quarter of 1903-the months of January, February and March-the total casualties on the railways of the United States were 827 killed and 11.481 injured. In that time there were 1,650 collisions and 1,181 derailments, and the total damage thus caused to cars engines and roads amounted to $2, 491,046. It is a frightful record. Most of the slaughter has been due to care lessness, than which nothing is more costly. Carelessness or blunders on Delightful Social Event Arranged in the part of railroad employes caused the major portion of the accidents The rest were doubtless due to the carelessness of those who walked railroad tracks where they had no bustness or made miscalculations as to the time necessary to cross a track ahead

There has been but one postoffice city that meets the requirements of central location and convenience of acerty will doubtless be in the very heart of the business center. For the past three years the Mercer Pottery company has been experimenting with underglazed decorated wares and is now turning out a product which, it claims, surpasses the best imported grades. The company advances a further claim, in that it can undersell the English made wars which has been a specialty with the potteries of Staffordshire for years. The credit for the success of the experiments belongs to John M. Pope, the head of the decorating department Save money. See Joseph Bros.' red at the Mercer pottery, who has prepared several specimens for the fall trade. All the underglazed ware, which s of a peculiar pattern, is decorated in cobalt blue, striped with green.

Owing to the increase in the orders for dinner and toilet ware the firm has been compelled to discontinue manufacturing jardinieres and pedestals. The Mercer pottery has a new toilet set called "St. Monica," with striking decorative effects which indude a combination of plain prints and decalcomania.

Improvements and repairs to the machinery and plant of the International Pottery company have just been completed. A new iron clay press is among the most important acquisitions. During the progress of the changes manufacture was suspended for several

"You make me happy again," he said softly, as they drew near the elder members of the party, who had paused to wait for them. "I shall ask your uncle and aunt to accompany us."

"Uncle Caspar will be busy all day, but I am sure my aunt will be charmed. Aunt Yvonne, Mr. Lorry has asked us to drive with him over the city, and I have accepted for you. When are we to start, Mr. Lorry?"

Mr. and Mrs. Guggenslocker stared in a bewildered sort of manner at their niece. Then Aunt Yvonne turned ques tioning eyes toward her husband, who promptly bowed low before the tail American and said:

"Your kind offices shall never be forgotten, sir. When are the ladies to be ready?"

Lorry was weighing in his mind the advisability of asking them to dine to the evening with his mother, but two objections presented themselves readfly-first, he was afraid of this perverse maid; second, he had not seen his mother. In fact, he did not know that she was in town.

"At 2 o'clock, I fancy. That will give us the afternoon. You leave at 9 tonight, do you not?"

"Yes. And will you dine with us this evening?" Her invitation was so unexpected in view of all that had happened that he looked askance. "Ach, you must not treat my invitation as I Insurance Companies would | did yours!" she cried merrily, although he could detect the blush that returns with the recollection of a reprimand. "You should profit by what I have been taught." The girl abruptly threw her arm about her aunt and cried as she drew away in the direction of her room: "At 2, then, and at dinner this evening. I bid you good morning, Mr. Lorry."

The young man, delighted with the cried: turn of affairs, but dismayed by what seemed a summary dismissal, bowed low. He waited until the strange trio entered the elevator and then sauntered downstairs, his hands in his pockets, his heart as light as air.

In an hour he was at home and relating to his mother the story of his wanderings, neglecting for reasons best known to himself the events which occurred after Denver had been left behind, except for a casual allusion to "a party of foreigners." At 1 o'clock, faultlessly attired, he descended to the brougham, telling Mrs. Lorry that he you are now." no great extent. For several hours he reveled in her society, sitting beade her in that roomy brougham, Aunt Yvonne opposite, explaining to her the many places of interest as they passed.

Their dinner was but one more phase of this fascinating dream. More than once he feared that he was about to awake to find bleak unhappiness where exquisite joy had reigned so gloriously. As it drew to an end a sense of depression came over him. An hour at most was all that he could have with her. Nine o'clock was drawing nigh with its regrets, its longings, its desolation. He determined to retain the pleasures of the present until, amid the clanging of bells and the roll of car wheels, the dismal future began. His intention to accompany them to the station was expressed as they were leaving the table. She had begun to say goodby to him when he interrupted, self consciousness forcing the words hurriedly and disjointedly from his lips:

"You will let me go to the station with you. I shall-er-deem it a pleas-

She raised her eyebrows slightly, but thanked him and said she would consider it an honor. His face grew hot and his heart cold with the fancy that there was in her eyes a gleam which said, "I pity you, poor fellow." Notwithstanding his strange misgiving and the fact that his pride had sustained quite a perceptible shock, he drove with them to the station. They went to the sleeping car a few minutes before the time set for the train's departure and stood at the bottom of the steps, uttering the goodbys, the godspeeds and the sincere hope that they might meet again. Then came the sharp activity of the trainmen, the hurry of belated passengers. He glanced Cardinals Not Enthusiastic Regarding Place of Confinement During Conclave.

LETTER FROM FRANCIS JOSEPH

Oreglia Explains Work of Conclave It affects the kidneys and Rules to Govern Body-Precautions Taken That No Communication Be Held With Outside World.

Rome, July 31.-The vatican was the scene of great activity both injust the remedy you need. It has been tested side and out. Within the last prepain so many ways, in hospital work, in private rations were made for the conclave and everything was in the utmost confusion. Workmen and servants were hurrying hither and thither, some hanging curtains, others putting in extra furniture, while porters were staggering along under immens? trunks, as if some of the cardinals expected to remain in their cells for months. Other cardinals sent practically nothing. The catafalque erected for the funeral services is being pulled down and the galleries which were built for the accommodation of special personages are being replaced by stalls for the cardinals. These will be ranged on both sides and surmount ed by canopies, all in violet, except that of the cameralengo, Cardinal Oreglia, which will be green, as he is the only cardinal of the congregation who was created under the reign of Pius IX.

The noise was so great that the colossal figures of Michael Angelo's "Last Judgment" seemed almost to show surprise at the busy scene which was transforming the beautiful chapel from a religious to an almost electoral aspect. Outside the vatican the work was of a different character, the quiet work of the supporters of the different candidates marshaling their strength for the contest which is to come when the doors of the conclave are closed. form all foods into the kind of blood No one candidate stands out promithat nourishes the nerves and feeds nently, as did Count Pecci in the conthe tissues. Rodol lays the foundation clave of 1878, and the discussion here Nature does the rest. is not so much concerning the superior qualities of the candidates as of the strength with which they are credited

Not Favorably Impressed by Cells. Rome, July 31.—The cardinals visit ed the cells which they are to occupy during the conclave, and it cannot be said that they retired very enthusiastic over the idea of being confinedperhaps for some time-in what are rightly termed "cells," which are without running water and necessary ven tilation. It is feared that the health of some of the older and more feeble cardinals might suffer.

Perhaps the most dissatisfied was Cardinal Maszary, who, as primate of Hungary, is the wealthiest of the cardinals. He is credited with an income of $400,000 annually. He insists that he cannot eat with the others and Experiments were made with the there's a cure. Doan's ointment never kitchens, the working of which is considered quite important, as about 500 people must be fed thrice daily for an indefinite period. The trials were completely successful. The revolving dumb waiters were also tested. They are characteristically Roman and con sist of wheels with shelves on which things are laid and they are made to revolve, carrying things in or out, but making it quite impossible for persons on either side to see each other.

To Write History of Leo's Pontificate. It is reported that Count Soderini, whose position at the vatican is that of bearer of the "golden rose," the greatest gift which a pope can confer upon women of royal families, was entrusted by Leo with the task of writing the history of his pontificate, enjoining upon him the fact that he wished a true history and not a eulogy. Count Soderini was furnished with abundant documents for his work.

During the meeting of the congregation of the cardinals the camerlengo read an autograph letter from Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, which added renewed condolences on the death of Leo and expressed the hope that the sacred college would be inspired by the great interests of the church in choosing his successor. The letter produced a strong impression and it was decided to answer it with a special message. Subsequently Cardfnal Oreglia explained how the work of the conclave was to be carried on. recalling the principal rules which were to govern the body and recommending their strict observance.

Cardinals Receive Medals. Each of the cardinals received a medal struck by the cameraligo to maintain the tradition of his sovereignty during the interregnum. It is intended to strike coins also for all the conclavists and servants who are to be present. Cardinals Sanminiatelli, Macchi and Della Volpe were charged with the duty of visiting the apartments of the conclave and Cardinals Tripoti and Boschi with visiting the precincts of the conclave for the purpose of making sure that there will be no possibility of communication with the outside world.

The question of the compensation to be given to the physicians who treated the late pontiff during his last illness was also discussed in the congregation. The executors of the will said that the money remaining after the charitable bequests left by Leo amount as might seem appropriate.

Safety Board and Committee of Council Have Agreed to Make Them.

POLICE TO REPORT HOURLY

President Grafton Dissatisfied With the Irregularity of the Patrolmen. Councilman Moon's Bill Ordered Paid-Other Important Matters.

The regular meeting of the board of public safety held last evening was and Dawson, were present and each gether with the fire committee of cour. cil, made a thorough inspection of city hall and it was practically decided by them to make a long-needed change in the building. Auditor Davidson has found his quarters to be entirely too small for his business and Mayor Weaver is in the same boat. With this in mind the inspection of the quarters of both resulted in the decision to recommend to council that the auditor's office be arranged for the mayor and the office now occupied by the chief executive be combined with the big room adjoining for the auditor and city treasurer. The safety board will meet in the mayor's new sanctum when the change is made.

President Grafton called the atten tion of the board to the fact that the city's corps of policemen is allowed to roam to and fro while on duty without ever reporting at headquarters only when a member is so inclined. He thought something should be done to regulate the policemen and a committee was appointed to recommend a plan by which some idea can be gained as to where the patrolmen are during their hours of service. There was a communication received from a firm having a complete system for sale, but there was no action taken towards its purchase, and it is not likely that there will be. It is probable that the alarm boxes stationed over the city will be arranged for a signal service.

The bill of Howard E. Moon was again introduced and the board decided to order the payment of the full amount. Solicitor Davidson had submitted a decision as to the legality of paying it, stating that as the feed had been ordered by the city and the bill was not in excess of the regular market price the board should pay it. The safety board had accepted the bill of the board of public service and the two combined amounted to $102.

Other bills, one from the Stark county workhouse and one from the Brunt Pottery company for placing a fire plug, were introduced, but no action was taken, the board having no knowledge of them. They were temporarily disposed of by the appointment eral impression regarding the order of of a committee to investigate. The bills the board, stating that his motion was for water and ice, which has been simply to call the attention of the chief wrangled over for several weeks, was of police to it. No definite action was Quotations Showing How the Market again laid over, the solicitor advising taken on the question. that it was not necessary for the board to order them paid.

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, July 31.-Mike Schiller, the Youngstown wife murderer sentenced to die in the electric chair No vember 10, has been received at the penitentiary. He is known in Columbiana county, having resided in Salem where he was employed for several years in an organ factory. His crime was brutal in the extreme. On account of his inhuman acts his wife was force ed to secure a divorce from him. One day several weeks ago he went to her Potters Will Take a Very Promiand demanded money, which she re fused to give him. He then whipped out a large ugly knife and disembow eled her. When Schiller reached the "bull pen," at the penitentiary, through which prisoners must pass to reach the prison proper, he objected to being put through the usual searching process, but was soon convinced it would be best to submit to the custom. On the way down he told the officers his only regret was he could not kill his brother-in-law whom he blamed for his domestic trouble which terminated in the murder of his wife. A crochet needle was found in his stocking with which the officers say he intended to stab himself in the heart. He remarked to the officials that he would not be killed by elecsixth victim awaiting electrocution. ANCIENT POTTERY HISTORY.

T. C. Brown-Westhead, Moore & Co., Stoke-upon Trent, England, have issued a booklet, which, after giving a historical account of the Staffordshire potteries from 1715, says:

"Foremost among these early pot ters was found the name of Ridgway. As far back as 1744 (before George Washington was called from his home in Virginia, or the battle of Bunker's Hill had been fought), the Cauldon works was established by Job Ridgway, and continued under the management and direction of his two sons, John and William, for a great many years. manufactories." THOMAS' TO RESUME.

The plant of the Thomas China company, which was closed down last Thursday, will resume operations within a month or six weeks, and will employ more hands than ever before.

When the works closed on Thursday many of the men were of the opinion that the pottery was to remain closed. How such an impression could have been made is hardly explained by the statement that many of the workmen were advised to seek employment guilty of starting the report, laughable to those who know the proprietors of the pottery, that the company is in bad shape financially. IS IN TROUBLE

Alliance Citizens Decidedly Sore on Interurban Line.

Alliance is up in arms against the Stark Electric Railway company, and it is threatened that some heroic meas ures will be resorted to in order compel the street car company to re store Arch and State streets to a passable condition. The council threat ens to fix up the streets and then su the company for the amount. On Arci street the macadam was torn up when the track was laid and it is claimed that now great chunks are lying abou over the street, making it almost im possible to get a team along. In some places there is a cut of two or three feet along the line, while in others the street car track is above the line of the street. The company claims that it built upon the grade given by the city engineer. Citizens are threatening to resort t mob law and tear up the track and then enjoin the company from relaying it. The excitement is getting high and something sensational is expected to develop. City Solicitor Miller, of Al liance, has retained Attorney C. C

The emperor of Japan has just told Gen. Joseph W. Congdon, president of the American Silk association, that "the United States is Japan's best friend among the nations." The czar of Russia would say the same thing if he were talking on this subject. So, doubtless, would the king of England, the emperor of Germany and the president of France. The United States is a friend of every nation. It intends to remain in this role, especially as there is a chance that complications may come between some of the great nations on account of the Chinese or the Korean issues, or both.

The interstate commerce commission reports that, within the first quarter of 1903-the months of January, February and March—the total casualties on the railways of the United States were 827 killed and 11.481 injured. In that time there were 1,650 cilisions and 1.181 derailments, and the total damage thus caused to cars, engines and roads amounted to $2,-491,046. It is a frightful record. Most of the slaughter has been due to carelessness, than which nothing is more costly. Carelessness or blunders on Delightful Social Event Arranged in the part of railroad employes caused the major portion of the accidents. The rest were doubtless due to the carelessness of those who walked railroad tracks where they had no bust ness or made miscalculations as to the

There has been but one postoffice site offered to the government in this city that meets the requirements of central location and convenience of acess. In a few years, the Brunt property will doubtless be in the very heart of the business center. The government will doubtless take these facts into consideration, and not locate the federal building where there is no possibility of business houses being erected near it.

SOCIAL EVENTS SURPRISE PARTY

Honor of Miss Sarah Simms' Birthday.

A happy and delightful social event took place yesterday evening when a birthday surprise party was given to Miss Sarah Simms, daughter of Mr. time necessary to cross a track ahead and Mrs. B. C. Simms. At 6 o'clock the handsome large home of B. C. Simms looked very brilliant, with 16 young girls and boys assembled for luncheon, much to the agreeable surprise of Miss Sarah. The dinner table was prettily arranged, and a profusion of sweet peas was in evidence.

Following the dinner, some time was spent in dancing, and a festive hour on the beautiful, large lawn of the Simms'

The young girls looked charming in their light summer frocks, in pale shades of pink and green, also white, which were beautiful and becoming for this event. The party was one of the

For the past three years the Mercer Pottery company has been experimenting with underglazed decorated ware and is now turning out a product which, it claims, surpasses the best imported grades. The company advances a further claim, in that it can undersell the English made wars which has been a specialty with the potteries of Staffordshire for years The credit for the success of the experiments belongs to John M. Pope, the head of the decorating department at the Mercer pottery, who has prepared several specimens for the fall trade. All the underglazed ware, which is of a peculiar pattern, is decorated in cobalt blue, striped with green.

Owing to the increase in the orders for dinner and toilet ware the firm has been compelled to discontinue manufacturing jardinieres and pedestals. The Mercer pottery has a new toilet set called "St. Monica," with striking decorative effects which include a combination of plain prints and decalcomania.

Improvements and repairs to the machinery and plant of the International Pottery company have just been completed. A new iron clay press is among the most important acquisitions. During the progress of the changes manufacture was suspended for several

The Trenton Potteries company is now confining the preparation of its exhibit for the St. Louis exposition to sanitary ware. The company proposes also to exhibit specimens of its capabilities in the production of a general line and is now engaged in getting ready for a varied assortment of jardinieres, pedestals, umbrella stands, steins, tankards and similar goods.

"You make me happy again," he said softly, as they drew near the elder members of the party, who had paused to wait for them. "I shall ask your uncle and aunt to accompany us."

"Uncle Caspar will be busy all day, but I am sure my aunt will be charmed. Aunt Yvonne, Mr. Lorry has asked us to drive with him over the city, and I have accepted for you. When are we to start, Mr. Lorry?"

Mr. and Mrs. Guggenslocker stared in a bewildered sort of manner at their niece. Then Aunt Yvonne turned ques tioning eyes toward her husband, who promptly bowed low before the tail American and said:

"Your kind offices shall never be forgotten, sir. When are the ladies to be ready?"

Lorry was weighing in his mind the advisability of asking them to dine to the evening with his mother, but two objections presented themselves readfly-first, he was afraid of this perverse maid; second, he had not seen his mother. In fact, he did not know that she was in town.

"At 2 o'clock, I fancy. That will give us the afternoon. You leave at 9 tonight, do you not?"

"Yes. And will you dine with us this evening?" Her invitation was so unexpected in view of all that had happened that he looked askance. "Ach, you must not treat my invitation as I did yours!" she cried merrily, although he could detect the blush that returns with the recollection of a reprimand. "You should profit by what I have been taught." The girl abruptly threw her arm about her aunt and cried as she drew away in the direction of her room: "At 2, then, and at dinner this evening. I bid you good morning, Mr. Lorry.

The young man, delighted with the turn of affairs, but dismayed by what seemed a summary dismissal, bowed low. He waited until the strange trio entered the elevator and then sauntered downstairs, his hands in his pockets, his heart as light as air.

In an hour he was at home and relating to his mother the story of his wanderings, neglecting for reasons best known to himself the events which occurred after Denver had been left behind, except for a casual allusion to "a party of foreigners." At 1 o'clock, faultlessly attired, he descended to the brougham, telling Mrs. Lorry that he you are now." Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is the best | had invited some strangers to see the and surest medicine in the world for discity. On the way downtown he re. did not take her eyes from his upeases of the kidneys, liver, bladder and membered that he was in business- turned face. blood, rheumatism, dyspepsia and chronic the law business-and that it would be well to drop in and let his uncle know he was in the city. On second thought, however, he concluded it was too near 2 o'clock to waste any time on business, so the office did not know that he was in town until the next day, and then to no great extent. For several bours he reveled in her society, sitting beade her in that roomy brougham, Aunt Yvonne opposite, explaining to her the many places of interest as they passed.

Their dinner was but one more phase of this fascinating dream. More than once he feared that he was about to awake to find bleak unhappiness where exquisite joy had reigned so gloriously. As it drew to an end a sense of depression came over him. An hour at most was all that he could have with her. Nine o'clock was drawing nigh with its regrets, its longings, its desolation. He determined to retain the pleasures of the present until, amid the clanging of bells and the roll of car wheels, the dismal future began. His intention to accompany them to the station was expressed as they were leaving the table. She had begun to say goodby to him when he interrupted, self consciousness forcing the words hurriedly and disjointedly from his lips:

"You will let me go to the station with you. I shall-er-deem it a pleas-

She raised her eyebrows slightly, but thanked him and said she would consider it an honor. His face grew hot and his heart cold with the fancy that there was in her eyes a gleam which said, "I pity you, poor fellow."

Notwithstanding his strange misgiving and the fact that his pride had sustained quite a perceptible shock, he drove with them to the station. They went to the sleeping car a few minutes before the time set for the train's departure and stood at the bottom of the steps, uttering the goodbys, the godspeeds and the sincere hope that they might meet again. Then came the sharp activity of the trainmen, the hurry of belated passengers. He glanced soberly at his watch.

"It is 9 o'clock. Perhaps you would better get aboard," he said, and pro-lights: "You must come to Edelweiss to see me. I shall expect you!" He thought there was a challenge in the tones. Or was it mockery? "I will, by heaven, I will" he ex-

WITH A LAME BACK? VISIT PAID TO CELLS CATARRY COMPLAINT.

Cardinals Not Enthusiastic Regarding Place of Confinement During Conclave.

LETTER FROM FRANCIS JOSEPH

Oreglia Explains Work of Conclave and Rules to Govern Body-Precautions Taken That No Communication Be Held With Outside World.

Rome, July 31.-The vatican was the scene of great activity both inside and out. Within the last preparations were made for the conclava fusion. Workmen and servants were hurrying hither and thither, some hanging curtains, others putting in extra furniture, while porters were telling more about Swamp-Root and how to staggering along under immense trunks, as if some of the cardinals expected to remain in their cells for months. Other cardinals sent practically nothing. The catafalque erected for the funeral services is being pulled down and the galleries which were built for the accommodation of special personages are being replaced by stalls for the cardinals. These will be ranged on both sides and surmounted by canopies, all in violet, except that of the cameralengo, Cardinal Oreglia, which will be green, as he is the only cardinal of the congregation who was created under the reign of Pius IX.

The noise was so great that the colossal figures of Michael Angelo's "Last Judgment" seemed almost to show surprise at the busy scene which was transforming the beautiful chapel from a religious to an almost electoral aspect. Outside the vatican the work was of a different character, the quiet work of the supporters of the different candidates marshaling their strength for the contest which is to come when the doors of the conclave are closed. No one candidate stands out promithat nourishes the nerves and feeds nently, as did Count Pecci in the conthe tissues. Kodol lays the foundation clave of 1878, and the discussion here is not so much concerning the superio: qualities of the candidates as of the strength with which they are credited Not Favorably Impressed by Cells. Rome, July 31.-The cardinals visited the cells which they are to occupy during the conclave, and it cannot be said that they retired very enthusiastic over the idea of being confinedperhaps for some time-in what are rightly termed "cells," which are without running water and necessary ven tilation. It is feared that the health of some of the older and more feeble cardinals might suffer.

Perhaps the most dissatisfied was Cardinal Maszary, who, as primate of Hungary, is the wealthiest of the cardinals. He is credited with an income of $400,000 annually. He insists that he cannot eat with the others and must have his meals outside.

Experiments were made with the kitchens, the working of which is considered quite important, as about 500 people must be fed thrice daily for an indefinite period. The trials were comsuccessful. The revolving dumb waiters were also tested. They are characteristically Roman and consist of wheels with shelves on which things are laid and they are made to revolve, carrying things in or out, but making it quite impossible for persons on either side to see each other.

To Write History of Leo's Pontificate. It is reported that Count Soderini. whose position at the vatican is that of bearer of the "golden rose," the greatest gift which a pope can confer upon women of royal families, was entrusted by Leo with the task of writing the history of his pontificate, enjoining upon him the fact that he wished a true history and not a eulogy. Count Soderini was furnished with abundant documents for his work. During the meeting of the congregation of the cardinals the camerlengo read an autograph letter from Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, which added renewed condolences on the death of Leo and expressed the hope that the sacred college would be inspired by the great interests of the church in choosing his successor. The letter produced a strong impression and it was decided to answer it with a special message. Subsequently Cardfnal Oreglia explained how the work of the conclave was to be carried on, recalling the principal rules which were to govern the body and recommending their strict observance.

Cardinals Receive Medals. Each of the cardinals received a medal struck by the cameraligo to maintain the tradition of his sovereignty during the interregnum. It is intended to strike coins also for all the conclavists and servants who are to be present. Cardinals Sanminiatelli, Macchi and Della Volpe were charged with the duty of visiting the apartments of the conclave and Cardinals Tripoti and Boschi with visiting the precincts of the conclave for the purpose of making sure that there will be no possibility of communication with the outside world. The question of the compensation to be given to the physicians who treated the late pontiff during his last illness was also discussed in the congregation. The executors of the will said that the money remaining after the charitable bequests left by Leo are paid would be only about $4,000. This sum was considered insufficient amount as might seem appropriate.

Catarrh begins with a stubborn cold in the head, inflammation or sore ness of the membrane or lining of the nose, discharge of mucus matter, headaches, neuralgia and difficult breathing, and even in this early stage is almost intolerable. But when the filthy secretions begin to drop back into the throat and stomach, and the blood becomes polluted and the system contaminated by the catarrhal poison, then the sufferer begins to realize what a disgusting and sickening disease Catarrh is.

I had a continual headache, my cheeks had grown purple, my nose was always stopped up, my breath had a sickening and disgusting odor, and I coughed incessantly. I heard of S. S. S. and commenced to use it and after taking several bottles I was cured and have never since had the slightest symptom of the disease.

disease and as inhaling mixtures, salves, ointments, etc., are never more than palliative or helpful, even in the beginning of Catarrh, what can you expect from such treatment when it becomes chronic and the whole system affected? Only such a remedy as S. S. S. can reach this obstinate, deep-seated disease and purge the blood of the catarrhal poison. S. S. S. purifies and builds up the diseased blood, and the inflamed membranes are healed and the excessive secretion of mucus ceases when new rich blood is coming to the linear terms.

Safety Board and Committee of

President Grafton Dissatisfied With the Irregularity of the Patrolmen. Councilman Moon's Bill Ordered Paid-Other Important Matters.

The regular meeting of the board of public safety held last evening was lengthy and considerable business was attended to. Every member, President Grafton and Messrs. Ogilvie, Taylor and Dawson, were present and each took an active part in the transac-

Prior to the meeting the board, to gether with the fire committee of courcil, made a thorough inspection of city hall and it was practically decided by them to make a long-needed change in the building. Auditor Davidson has weaver is in the same boat. With this in mind the inspection of the quarters of both resulted in the decision to recommend to council that the auditor's office be arranged for the mayor and found his quarters to be entirely too office be arranged for the mayor and the office now occupied by the chief executive be combined with the big room adjoining for the auditor and city treasurer. tion of the board to the fact that the Eleven Dollars for choice, is President Grafton called the attencity's corps of policemen is allowed to roam to and fro while on duty without ever reporting at headquarters only when a member is so inclined. He thought something should be done to regulate the policemen and a committee was appointed to recommend a plan by which some idea can be gained as to where the patrolmen are during their hours of service. There was a communication received from a firm having a complete system for sale, but there was no action taken towards its purchase, and it is not likely that there will be. It is probable that the alarm boxes stationed over the city will be arranged for a signal service.

The bill of Howard E. Moon was again introduced and the board decided to order the payment of the full amount. Solicitor Davidson had submitted a decision as to the legality of paying it, stating that as the feed had been ordered by the city and the bill was not in excess of the regular market price the board should pay it. The safety board had accepted the bill of the board of public service and the two combined amounted to $102.

Other bills, one from the Stark county workhouse and one from the Brunt Pottery company for placing a fire plug, were introduced, but no action was taken, the board having no knowledge of them. They were temporarily disposed of by the appointment eral impression regarding the order of of a committee to investigate. Columbus, July 31.-Mike Schiller the Youngstown wife murderer sentenced to die in the electric chair No vember 10, has been received at the penitentiary. He is known in Columbiana county, having resided in Salem where he was employed for severa years in an organ factory. His crime was brutal in the extreme. On account of his inhuman acts his wife was force ed to secure a divorce from him. One Got Arrested Last Night and Told day several weeks ago he went to her and demanded money, which she re fused to give him. He then whipped out a large ugly knife and disembow eled her. She survived but a short time. The murder was cold-blooded and the evidence at the trial showed i had been premeditated.

ANCIENT POTTERY HISTORY.

T. C. Brown-Westhead, Moore & Co. Stoke-upon Trent, England, have issued a booklet, which, after giving a historical account of the Staffordshire potteries from 1715, says:

"Foremost among these early potters was found the name of Ridgway. As far back as 1744 (before George Washington was called from his home in Virginia, or the battle of Bunker's Hill had been fought), the Cauldon works was established by Job Ridgway, and continued under the management and direction of his two sons. #### THOMAS' TO RESUME.

The plant of the Thomas China company, which was closed down last Thursday, will resume operations within a month or six weeks, and will employ more hands than ever before.

When the works closed on Thursday many of the men were of the opinion that the pottery was to remain closed. How such an impression could have been made is hardly explained by the statement that many of the workmen were advised to seek employment elsewhere. Some persons, too, were guilty of starting the report, laughable to those who know the proprietors day looking for employment. of the pottery, that the company is in known that the members of the firm, the Thomas China company, own and portion of the pottery have been comoperate a plant in East Liverpool, val. pleted. ued easily at a haif million of dollars, such a report was ridculous, says the Buckeye State.

ELECTRIC ROAD

IS IN TROUBLE

Alliance Citizens Decidedly Sore Interurban Line. Alliance is up in arms against the Stark Electric Railway company, and it is threatened that some heroic meas ures will be resorted to in order compel the street car company to re store Arch and State streets to a pag sable condition. The council threat ens to fix up the streets and then sue the company for the amount. On Arch street the macadam was torn up when the track was laid and it is claimed that now great chunks are lying about over the street, making it almost im possible to get a team along. In some places there is a cut of two or three feet along the line, while in others the street car track is above the line of the street. The company claims that i built upon the grade given by the cit engineer.

Citizens are threatening to resort to mob law and tear up the track and then enjoin the company from relaying it. The excitement is getting high and something sensational is expected to develop. City Solicitor Miller, of Alliance, has retained Attorney C. C. Bow, of Canton, as assistant counsel.

The emperor of Japan has just told Gen. Joseph W. Congdon, president of the American Silk association, that "the United States is Japan's best friend among the nations." The czar of Russia would say the same thing if he were talking on this subject. So, doubtless, would the king of England, the emperor of Germany and the president of France. The United States is a friend of every nation. It intends to remain in this role, especially as there is a chance that complications may come between some of the great nations on account of the Chinese or the Korean issues, or both.

For the past three years the Mercer Pottery company has been experimenting with underglazed decorated wares News Review reportorial staff, yes and is now turning out a product which, it claims, surpasses the best imported grades. The company advances a further claim, in that it can undersell the English made ware which has been a specialty with the potteries of Staffordshire for years. The credit for the success of the experiments belongs to John M. Pope, the head of the decorating department at the Mercer pottery, who has prepared several specimens for the fall trade. All the underglazed ware, which is of a peculiar pattern, is decorated in cobalt blue, striped with green.

Owing to the increase in the orders for dinner and toilet ware the firm has been compelled to discontinue manufacturing jardinieres and pedestals. The Mercer pottery has a new toilet set called "St. Monica," with striking decorative effects which include a combination of plain prints and decalcomania.

Improvements and repairs to the machinery and plant of the International Pottery company have just been completed. A new iron clay press is among the most important acquisitions. During the progress of the changes manufacture was suspended for several

NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA ITS CAUSE AND CURE

Overwork any organ and it gives out the stomach is no exception. Ask it to digest anything, everything, at any time in half the time required, and like an over driven horse, it balks. Nature intended the stomach should have regular hours. A time to work, a time to rest-and when you break up this habit, you upset the whole arrangement. The stomach nerves become exhausted, the glands refuse to act, the food does not digest-lies heavy, ferments and repeats. There is pain, gas forms, bloating occurs, the heart becomes irregular and a neryous, irritable feeling sets in. This of the Jarvis tobacco inspection depot, is nervous dyspepsia and Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills it's cure.

"You make me happy again," he said softly, as they drew near the elder members of the party, who had paused to wait for them. "I shall ask your uncle and aunt to accompany us."

"Uncle Caspar will be busy all day, but I am sure my aunt will be charmed. Aunt Yvonne, Mr. Lorry has asked us to drive with him over the city, and I have accepted for you. When are we to start, Mr. Lorry?"

Mr. and Mrs. Guggenslocker stared in a bewildered sort of manner at their niece. Then Aunt Yvonne turned ques tioning eyes toward her husband, who promptly bowed low before the tail American and said:

"Your kind offices shall never be forgotten, sir. When are the ladies to be ready?

Lorry was weighing in his mind the advisability of asking them to dine to the evening with his mother, but two objections presented themselves readily-first, he was afraid of this perverse maid; second, he had not seen his mother. In fact, he did not know that she was in town.

"At 2 o'clock, I fancy. That will give supplies with stories of the richness us the afternoon. You leave at 9 tonight, do you not?"

"Yes. And will you dine with us this evening?" Her invitation was so unexpected in view of all that had happened that he looked askance. "Ach, you must not treat my invitation as I did yours!" she cried merrily, although he could detect the blush that returns with the recollection of a reprimand. "You should profit by what I have been taught." The girl abruptly threw her arm about her aunt and cried as she drew away in the direction of her room: "At 2, then, and at dinner this evening. I bid you good morning, Mr. Lorry."

The young man, delighted with the turn of affairs, but dismayed by what seemed a summary dismissal, bowed low. He waited until the strange trio entered the elevator and then sauntered downstairs, his hands in his pockets, his heart as light as air. In an hour he was at home and relating to his mother the story of his wanderings, neglecting for reasons best known to himself the events which occurred after Denver had been left behind, except for a casual allusion to "a party of foreigners." no great extent. For several hours he reveled in her society, sitting beade her in that roomy brougham, Aunt Yvonne opposite, explaining to her the many places of interest as they passed.

Their dinner was but one more phase of this fascinating dream. More than once he feared that he was about to awake to find bleak unhappiness where exquisite joy had reigned so gloriously. As it drew to an end a sense of depression came over him. An hour at most was all that he could have with her. Nine o'clock was drawing nigh with its regrets, its longings, its desolation. He determined to retain the pleasures of the present until, amid the clanging of clasped her hand as she drew back in bells and the roll of car wheels, the dismal future began. His intention to accompany them to the station was expressed as they were leaving the table. She had begun to say goodby to him when he interrupted, self consciousness forcing the words hurriedly and disjointedly from his lips:

"You will let me go to the station with you. I shall-er-deem it a pleas-

She raised her eyebrows slightly, but thanked him and said she would consider it an honor. His face grew hot and his heart cold with the fancy that there was in her eyes a gleam which said, "I pity you, poor fellow." Notwithstanding his strange misgivmg and the fact that his pride had sustained quite a perceptible shock, he drove with them to the station. They went to the sleeping car a few minutes before the time set for the train's departure and stood at the bottom of the steps, uttering the goodbys, the godspeeds and the sincere hope that they might meet again. Then came the sharp activity of the trainmen, the hurry of belated passengers. He glanced soberly at his watch. "It is 9 o'clock. Perhaps you would better get aboard," he said, and pro-

cal triumph of the nine- LETTER FROM FRANCIS JOSEPH

Oreglia Explains Work of Conclave and Rules to Govern Body-Precautions Taken That No Communication Be Held With Outside World.

Rome. July 31.-The vatican was the scene of great activity both injust the remedy you need. It has been tested side and out. Within the last prepain so many ways, in hospital work, in private rations were made for the conclava and everything was in the utmost con fusion. Workmen and servants were hurrying hither and thither, some hanging curtains, others putting in extra furniture, while porters were staggering along under immenso trunks, as if some of the cardinals expected to remain in their cells for months. Other cardinals sent practically nothing. The catafalque erected for the funeral services is being pulled down and the galleries which were built for the accommodation of special personages are being replaced by stalls for the cardinals. These will be ranged on both sides and surmounted by canopies, all in violet, except that of the cameralengo, Cardinal Oreglia, which will be green, as he is the only cardinal of the congregation who was created under the reign of Pius IX.

The noise was so great that the colossal figures of Michael Angelo's "Last Judgment" seemed almost to show surprise at the busy scene which was transforming the beautiful chapel from a religious to an almost electoral aspect. Outside the vatican the work was of a different character, the quiet work of the supporters of the different candidates marshaling their strength for the contest which is to come when the doors of the conclave are closed No one candidate stands out promithat nourishes the nerves and feeds nently, as did Count Pecci in the conthe tissues. Rodol lays the foundation for health. Nature does the rest. is not so much concerning the superior qualities of the candidates as of the strength with which they are credited

> Not Favorably Impressed by Cells. Rome, July 31.-The cardinals visit ed the cells which they are to occupy during the conclave, and it cannot be said that they retired very enthusiastic over the idea of being confinedperhaps for some time-in what are rightly termed "cells," which are without running water and necessary yen tilation. It is feared that the health of some of the older and more feeble

Experiments were made with the kitchens, the working of which is considered quite important, as about 500 people must be fed thrice daily for an indefinite period. The trials were comdumb waiters were also tested. They are characteristically Roman and con sist of wheels with shelves on which things are laid and they are made to revolve, carrying things in or out, but making it quite impossible for persons on either side to see each other.

Another site will probably be selected. To Write History of Leo's Pontificate. It is reported that Count Soderini whose position at the vatican is that of bearer of the "golden rose," the greatest gift which a pope can confer upon women of royal families, was entrusted by Leo with the task of writing the history of his pontificate, enjoining upon him the fact that he wished a true history and not a eulogy. Count Soderini was furnished with abundant documents for his work. During the meeting of the congregation of the cardinals the camerlengo read an autograph letter from Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, which added renewed condolences on the death of Leo and expressed the hope that the sacred college would be inspired by the great interests of the church in choosing his successor. The letter produced a strong impression and it was decided to answer it with a special message. Subsequently Cardinal Oreglia explained how the work of the conclave was to be carried on recalling the principal rules which were to govern the body and recommending their strict observance.

Cardinals Receive Medals.

Each of the cardinals received a medal struck by the cameraligo to maintain the tradition of his sovereignty during the interregnum. It is intended to strike coins also for all the conclavists and servants who are to be present. Cardinals Sanminiatelli, Macchi and Della Volpe were charged with the duty of visiting the apartments of the conclave and Cardinals Tripoti and Boschi with visiting the precincts of the conclave for the purpose of making sure that there will be no possibility of communication with the outside world.

NEEDED CHANGES AT CITY BUILDING

Safety Board and Committee of Council Have Agreed to Make Them.

POLICE TO REPORT HOURLY

President Grafton Dissatisfied With the Irregularity of the Patrolmen Councilman Moon's Bill Ordered Paid-Other Important Matters.

The regular meeting of the board of public safety held last evening was engthy and considerable business was attended to. Every member, President Grafton and Messrs. Ogilvie, Taylor and Dawson, were present and each gether with the fire committee of courcil. made a thorough inspection of city hall and it was practically decided by them to make a long-needed change in the building. Auditor Davidson has found his quarters to be entirely too small for his business and Mayor Weaver is in the same boat. With this in mind the inspection of the quarters of both resulted in the decision to recommend to council that the auditor's office be arranged for the mayor and the office now occupied by the chief executive be combined with the big room adjoining for the auditor and city treasurer. The safety board will meet in the mayor's new sanctum when the President Grafton called the attenion of the board to the fact that the city's corps of policemen is allowed to roam to and fro while on duty without ever reporting at headquarters only when a member is so inclined. He thought something should be done to regulate the policemen and a committee was appointed to recommend a plan by which some idea can be gained as to where the patrolmen are during their hours of service. There was a communication received from a firm having a complete system for sale, but there was no action taken towards its purchase, and it is not likely that there will be. It is probable that the alarm oxes stationed over the city will be arranged for a signal service.

The bill of Howard E. Moon was again introduced and the board decided to order the payment of the full amount. Solicitor Davidson had submitted a decision as to the legality of been ordered by the city and the bill was not in excess of the regular market price the board should pay it. The safety board had accepted the bill of the board of public service and the two combined amounted to $102.

Other bills, one from the Stark ounty workhouse and one from the Brunt Pottery company for placing a fire plug, were introduced, but no action was taken, the board having no knowledge of them. They were tempoagain laid over, the solicitor advising taken on the question. that it was not necessary for the board to order them paid.

Mr. Taylor inquired about the awning ordinance. He objected to the gen-

East Liverpool O. "NO CLOTHING FITS LIKE OURS"

Gentlemen:

We are losing money this month and we don't grumble. The more we lose the better we like it. Strange isn't it? Are you in business? If you are you know that the only way to tell if you've made money, is to count your profits in cash. Can't go to the markets and buy new fall goods with Summer stocks. Can't bring on new fall goods anyway, until we have shelf and counter room. And so less than cost, or cost, goes this month, and we believe this is wiser than to carry goods over,
